Opening Outlook

Lexitas primarily uses Outlook for Sending and Receiving e-mails. This section will cover opening outlook and composing your first e-mail.

1. Click the search icon in the task bar

2. Type outlook

3. Click on the application option for 'Outlook' that appears

4. Once outlook opens, you will see a screen similar to the image below, this is the home page for outlook

Composing an E-mail

With Outlook open, an e-mail can be composed using the steps below

1. Click the 'New' button in the Home tab

2. The following screen will now open

3. There are 4 Text fields on the 'Compose' page:
 - a. To: The primary recipient(s) of the email.
 - b. Cc: Additional recipient(s) who should be kept informed.
 - c. Subject: A brief summary of the email's purpose.
 - d. Message Body: The main content of the email.

WATCH OUT: This section covers how to compose an e-mail from a functional standpoint however before sending your first mail, a signature needs to be set. The next section will cover how to set up a signature

Setting Up Your Signature

Signature Template

A variety of signature templates can be found in the following file.

For this setup, we will be using a modified version of Signature Option 5 as shown below:

Full Name

Job Title

Main: 800-676-2401

Critical to the Case™

Court Reporting

Process Service

Record Retrieval

Legal Talent

Note: Depending on your position, there may be a more suitable template available in the signature file, option #5 is simply chosen for this walkthrough.

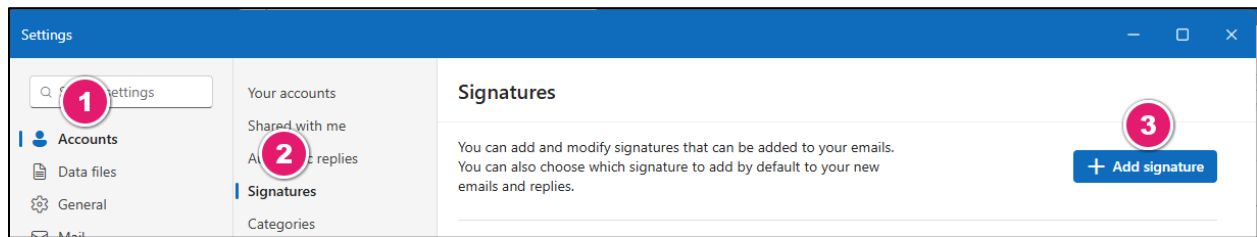

Creating Your Signature

Use the steps below to create your signature in outlook

1. In Outlook, go to File > Settings

Sending an E-mail

With the signature template now set up, we can now send out e-mails, replies, and forwards professionally and within company standards

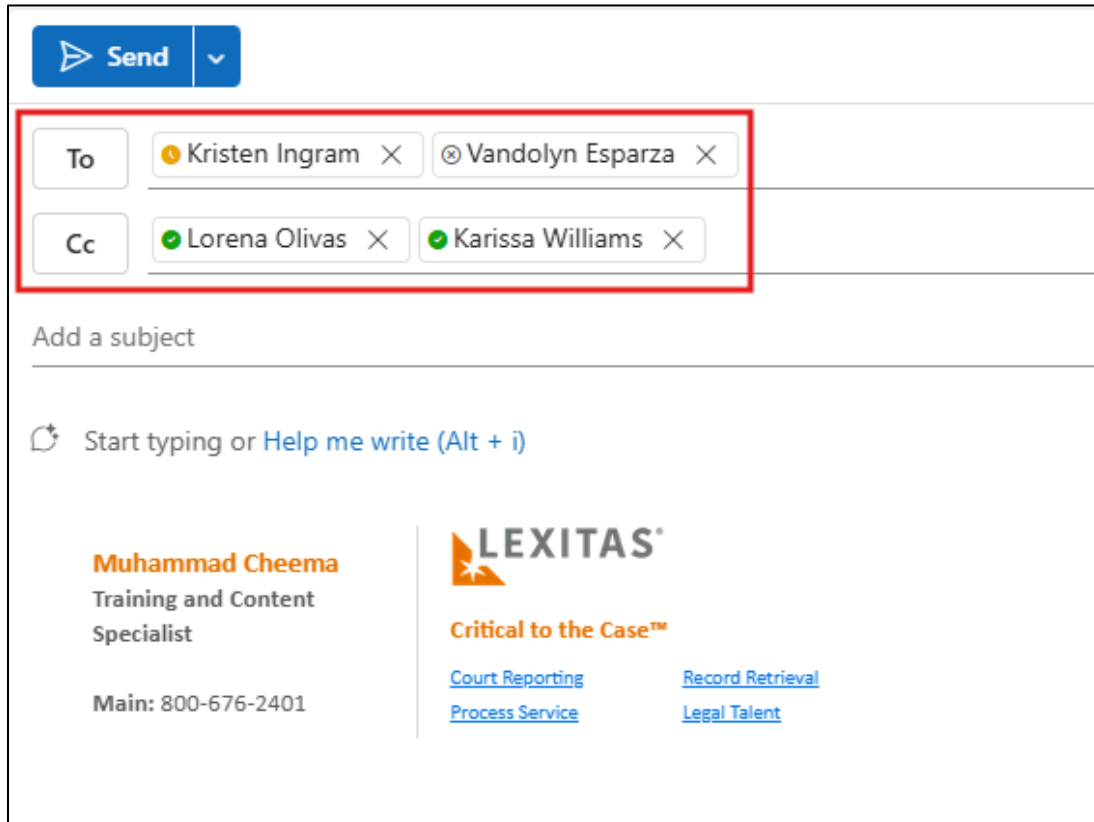

1. When composing a new e-mail, the signature will now automatically populate in the Message Body

2. When typing in the recipient fields (To & Cc), Outlook will automatically suggest the closest matching names alongside their e-mail address

3. Click the best matching options for recipients (multiple recipients can be added for both To & Cc fields)

5. The Message Body follows the same philosophy, try to be as specific as possible and to the point to keep the e-mail concise and actionable without much mental bandwidth from the recipients

6. Tags can also be set for e-mails which mark them as High Importance among other options

Note: You will see various e-mails marked as High Importance, especially those that are requesting urgent changes or discussing assignments with a deadline coming up. It's very important that this tag is used sparingly and only for critical tasks that require a response ASAP.

- Once the e-mail has been reviewed, click the Send button to send it to all the selected recipients.
